this revealing work examines an approach from ancient astronomy to what was then a particularly important question namely that of understanding the relationship between the position in the ecliptic and the time it takes for a fixed length of the ecliptic beginning at that point to rise above the eastern horizon schemes known as rising time schemes were used to give lengths of the celestial equator corresponding to each of the twelve zodiacal signs which make up the ecliptic this book investigates the earliest known examples of these schemes which come from babylonia and date to the mid to late first millennium bc making an important contribution to our knowledge of astronomy in the ancient world this volume includes editions and translations of all of the known babylonian rising time texts including several texts that are identified for the first time through a close examination of the preserved texts it has been possible to reconstruct the complete babylonian rising time scheme this reconstruction is unprecedented in its completeness and it is also now possible to situate the scheme within a genre of babylonian astronomy known as schematic astronomy which presents theoretical descriptions of the astronomical phenomena the unique discoveries and fresh explorations in this book will be of interest to historians of ancient astronomy scholars of babylonian history and those investigating the origins of scientific thought this volume explores how scholars wrote preserved circulated and read knowledge in ancient mesopotamia it offers an exercise in micro history that provides a case study for attempting to understand the relationship between scholars and scholarship during this time of great innovation the papers in this collection focus on tablets written in the city of uruk in southern babylonia these archives come from two different scholarly contexts one is a private residence inhabited during successive phases by two families of priests who were experts in ritual and medicine the other is the most important temple in uruk during the late achemenid and hellenistic periods the contributors undertake detailed studies of this material to explore the scholarly practices of individuals the connection between different scholarly genres and the exchange of knowledge between scholars in the city and scholars in other parts of babylonia and the greek world in addition this collection examines the archives in which the texts were found and the scribes who owned or wrote them it also considers the interconnections between different genres of knowledge and the range of activities of individual scribes in doing so it answers questions of interest not only for the study of babylonian scholarship but also for the study of ancient mesopotamian textual culture more generally and for the study of traditions of written knowledge in the ancient world during the past two generations there have been many studies on the structure organization and function of the gods of the levantine and ancient near eastern worlds in this important study lowell handy provides new directions for thinking on this crucial topic arguing that the structure of the pantheon worshiped in syria palestine mirrored the social structure of the city states in that region while many recent studies have investigated the relations of the gods in both biblical and extra biblical texts from the area handy shows that the pantheon functioned as a bureaucracy this perspective may well be the primary key for understanding hierarchy among the gods new york magazine was born in 1968 after a run as an insert of the new york herald tribune and quickly made a place for itself as the trusted resource for readers across the country with award winning writing and photography covering everything from politics and food to theater and fashion the magazine s consistent mission has been to reflect back to its audience the energy and excitement of the city itself while celebrating new york as both a place and an idea
