when was the last time you felt this comfortable in a relationship an ad for sneakers you can love it without getting your heart broken an ad for a car until i find a real man i ll settle for a real smoke a woman in a cigarette ad many advertisements these days make us feel as if we have an intimate even passionate relationship with a product but as jean kilbourne points out in this fascinating and shocking exposé the dreamlike promise of advertising always leaves us hungry for more we can never be satisfied because the products we love cannot love us back drawing upon her knowledge of psychology media and women s issues kilbourne offers nothing less than a new understanding of a ubiquitous phenomenon in our culture the average american is exposed to over 3 000 advertisements a day and watches three years worth of television ads over the course of a lifetime kilbourne paints a gripping portrait of how this barrage of advertising drastically affects young people especially girls by offering false promises of rebellion connection and control she also offers a surprising analysis of the way advertising creates and then feeds an addictive mentality that often continues throughout adulthood

it would seem that any specialist in plasma physics studying a medium in which the interaction between particles is as distance dependent as the inter action between stars and other gravitating masses would assert that the role of collective effects in the dynamics of gravitating systems must be decisive however among astronomers this point of view has been recog nized only very recently so comparatively recently serious consideration has been devoted to theories of galactic spiral structure in which the dominant role is played by the orbital properties of individual stars rather than collec tive effects in this connection we would like to draw the reader s attention to a difference in the scientific traditions of plasma physicists and astrono mers whereby the former have explained the delay of the onset of controlled thermonuclear fusion by the intrigues of collective processes in the plasma while many a generation of astronomers were calculating star motions solar andlunar eclipses and a number of other fine effects for many years ahead by making excellent use of only the laws of newtonian mechanics therefore for an astronomer it is perhaps not easy to agree with the fact that the evolution of stellar systems is controlled mainly by collective effects and the habitual methods of theoretical mechanics iii astronomy must make way for the method of self consistent fields
